

The One Who Lives Up to His Name

When the pace of life has depleted my soul,
And my passion and vision has waned,
I receive all I need from El Shaddai.
I serve a God who lives up to his name.

When the battle is daunting and fear presses in,
Victory is mine to claim.
Jehovah Nissa is my banner held high.
I serve a God who lives up to his name.

When a storm is raging deep in my heart,
And worry begins its sly game,
Jehovah Shalom quiets my soul.
I serve a God who lives up to his name.

When the threads of my life unravel and fray
I draw strength from my Father's acclaim.
El Elyon works all things for good.
I serve a God who lives up to his name.

When I've wondered too far from my shepherd's staff,
And my spirit is wounded and lame,
Jehovah Raah gently carries me home.
I serve a God who lives up to his name.

When I'm feeling inadequate; can't measure up,
And I've no successes to claim,
El Elohim says, 'You are my masterpiece'.
I serve a God who lives up to his name.

When sin chokes my soul and I'm naked with guilt,
His righteousness covers my shame.
Jehovah Tsidkenu clothes me in grace.
I serve a God who lives up to name.

Almighty Creator,
Most High Sovereignty,
The Shepherd and Healer
Who sanctifies me;
My Peace and my Promise,

Provision Assured,
The Lord of all Hosts,
He's the true Living Word.

Alpha, Omega,
Beginning and End,
Wonderful, Counselor,
Comforter, Friend,
He's Abba, my Father.
He's Sweet Victory.
Redeemer, Messiah,
He's all things to me.

He's captured my heart.
I'm no longer the same.
I'm in love with the One
Who lives up to His name.

-Alicia Bruxvoort